Instructions:

1. Cut the hot press watercolor paper to size little larger than your card front. Then using your blending tool blend in some of the Mustard Seen distress ink, then go over it with the Picked Raspberry, next with Broken China and last with Stormy sky. See pictures for details. (tip: I keep the blending foam pieces on the bottom of my distress ink cubes, they fit in perfectly)

2. After you are done with the blending, sprinkle some water drops onto your background and wait about 1 min, then wipe the extra water with paper towel. Do not rub them, just dab them. Then using white acrylic paint and old toothbrush sprinkle some paint on it to create “stars” Let it dry.

3. While your background is drying, die cut and stamp the bears. Usually I stamp and cut bunch to have on hand for future use or coloring on the go.

4. Next start coloring. For the sitting bear I used NU4- Caramel pen and infused the brush nib with the toning medium for 15 seconds for the body, and 3 seconds for the paws. For the ears I used un- infused NU4 pen.

5. Next for the nozzle and the belly I used NU0- Sand Chameleon pen and infused the brush nib with the toning medium for 2 and 8 seconds respectively.

6. Next I colored the nose with un-infused BR4- Burnt Umber Chameleon Pen – bullet nib and for the bubble over the bear’s head I used NU000 – Nude Chameleon Pen and infused the brush nib with the toning medium for 10 seconds

7. For the second bear I used BR4-Burnt Umber Chameleon Pen to color the body, I used the brush nib and infused it for 20 seconds with the toning medium for the body and 4 seconds for the arm on the left (bear's right arm)

8. Next for the nozzle and the belly I used NU2- Light Peach Chameleon pen and infused the brush nib with the toning medium for 2 and 5 seconds respectively.

9. For the bubble over the bear's head I used the NU000 Nude Chameleon Pen and infused the brush nib for 9 seconds using the toning medium

10. Next I positioned the bears where I want them to be on my background along with my sentiment, to see how it'll look

11. Using the clear Pico Embellisher cover the bubbles over the bears' heads and let it dry.

12. Using the coordinating dies die cut the background where you would like the bears to be and trim the background to size for your card. Then stamp the sentiment with Versamark ink and emboss it with white embossing powder

13. Adhere your background to white card base using mounting tape, then adhere the bears in the „holes“ and you are done☺
